

Description

The DCAR Leadership Institute is designed to foster future volunteer leaders. In order for volunteers to reach their full potential, there needs to be an understanding of what it means to be a volunteer leader. The DCAR Leadership Institute offers the education needed to help nurture success. The class offers an array of training focusing on the following areas:

- REALTOR® Association Structure
- Interpersonal Skills
- Conflict Resolution
- Public Policy
- Community Service
- Public Speaking
- Effective Meetings
- Time Management
- Strategic Planning

What does a volunteer leader do? DCAR volunteer leaders assist with the development of policies and programs that benefit REALTORS®, they play an integral role in ensuring members have the tools and support needed to succeed in today's ever-changing field, they help shape public policy, and they accentuate the positive impact REALTORS® have on our communities.

DCAR volunteers participate on committees, serve on the Board of Directors, and represent DCAR and the real estate industry in the community. Volunteers grow both personally and professionally as a result of their volunteer experience, and the Leadership Institute is the best way to get a head start on this path.

Participation is limited. Participants are required to attend all sessions. A selection committee reviews all applications.
